Western Baths Artist in Residence

We are delighted to announce Kate Robinson as our Artist in Residence.

Dr Kate Robinson is an artist and writer. She is a member of the Royal Society of Sculptors and of the intersectionality committee of the Scottish Artists' Union.

Public sculptures include Woman Man Sun Moon at Newhouse, overlooking the M8; Gie Me Ae Spark o' Nature's Fire in Johnstone Town Hall; a memorial to Thomas Donohue; The Ramshorn Engravings in Glasgow city centre; The Very Atom is Light Energy in Govan; Brother Walfrid and Jimmy Johnstone at Celtic Football Club (Pictured); and artworks/exhibitions nationally and internationally.

As part of the arts collective, Grinéal, she was responsible for the International Sand Sculpture Festival which took place on Glasgow's George Square. She works with performance and film, including commissions by the BBC/LUX and the National Theatre of Scotland/Gaelic Arts. She has published on a wide range of topics both academic and creative, including authoring or co-authoring full-length books. Right now, she is UNESCO Virtual Writer in Residence with the Australian Tapestry Workshop in Melbourne and is an evaluator for Izolyatsia, an arts organisation in Kyiv, Ukraine.

With stiff competition for this position, Kate is excited to be chosen as the current Artist in Residence and we are delighted to welcome her on board.
